

TV Best Buys

Exclusive at Which.co.uk

Read members' reviews of products – and post your own

As a Which? member, you can now go online to tell us about your experiences with the products you own – and find out what other members think of the products they've bought.

As we went to press we had 161 Which? member reviews for Best Buy TVs alongside our own expert product reviews.

Commenting on the £499 Panasonic Viera TX-32LZD80 (pictured right), one member wrote: 'Based on Which? reports, I chose this one. The picture is fantastic... The black is deep and the colours are vibrant. The sound is great... Buy it.'

Out of 37 users, 34 gave this TV top marks. But only Which? members, who have exclusive access to our online product reviews, can find out that this TV is a Best Buy and scored 81% when it was tested. For reviews of the newest TVs on the market, visit www.which.co.uk/tvs.

'The picture is fantastic... The black is deep and the colours are vibrant... Buy it'

Get the best HDTV for you

Which.co.uk

There's a bewildering range of high-definition (HD) TVs on the market. Deciding between a plasma and LCD model, and on the screen size, is just the beginning.

Our interactive HDTV guide at Which.co.uk breaks down the information you need into bite-sized pieces. For instance, it tells you about the HD logos you'll see in the shops, which 'eco-friendly' features really make a difference, and what all those sockets at the back of the TV are for. Visit www.which.co.uk/hdtvguide to find out more.

Go to www.which.co.uk/reviews for the Which? verdict on all the products we've tested