Brand new – Which? essential guides

Pre-publication offer, £1 off rrp plus free p&p

This month we're celebrating the launch of two new Which? essential guides – 'Renting and Letting' and 'What to do When Someone Dies'. Containing all the thorough research and independent advice you'd expect from Which?, these essential guides are practical and easy to use, feature lots of pull-out tips, helpful websites and useful contacts – and they cover all the recent legislation changes. The books will be in the shops from mid-September but Which? members can buy copies early for the special price of £9.99 (usual rrp £10.99) inc free p&p.

Renting and Letting

Kate Faulkner (ISBN: 978-1-84490-029-9)
224pp

A practical guide for anyone letting out or renting property. Covering student accommodation, business lets, second homes and holiday flats, this guide points out the pitfalls to avoid as well as suggesting ways to increase your chance of success. Provides up-to-date advice and everything you need to know about the financial and legal practicalities.

What to do When Someone Dies

Paul Harris (ISBN: 978-184490-028-2)
224pp

An invaluable handbook dealing with the practical arrangements surrounding bereavement. From registering a death to administering an estate, this guide provides clear, easy-to-follow advice and presents the options available. Offers advice on how long things take, practical considerations and expenses you are likely to incur.
