On the move?

News you can use at which.co.uk/podcast

Want to find out more about protecting your identity online while barely lifting a finger or moving an eyeball?

Download our tech podcast to get that essential Which? advice (and Best Buys too) in a bite-sized chunk you can listen to while out running, during that long and boring commute, or just while pottering around the house.

This month technology editor Matthew Bath explains more about stopping those internet nasties and reveals where you can get Best Buy security software for free.

To keep your finger on the pulse, why not subscribe to our regular monthly podcasts? They're not all about the latest technology – you can get money advice too and listen to our car experts reveal what they really think of the latest models.

---

which? Local

Which? Local Awards

Turn to p6 of this issue for details on how to nominate your favourite local computer repairer for a Which? Local Award. He or she may be named UK Trader of the Year at the Which? Awards 2009 – and you'll be in with a chance of winning £2,000 from our prize draw. Which? Local – at www.which-local.co.uk – lists more than 200 computer businesses across the country that have been recommended by members. There are more than 17,000 other Which? Local recommendations if you're looking for another service.

www.which-local.co.uk

Save £115 on a Best Buy
HP Pavilion laptop

Looking for an affordable laptop for your family? This issue of Which? brings you our first laptops test report (see p46), compiled with help from the experts at Which? Computing. You can find many more online at www.which. co.uk/laptops. With Which? Compare, you could save over £100 on the HP Pavilion dv 3505ea as we went to press, picking it up for £585. It's light but robust and, with Wi-Fi access, you can surf on it around the house. It also has a webcam and memory card reader for accessing digital photos.

W309

Go to www.which.co.uk/reviews for the Which? verdict on all the products we've tested